

Men's Journal

Enter search keyword
Utah Gets Wet | Men's Journal

10/25/09 4:56

Courtesy of High West Distillery

Two years ago, after discovering a long-forgotten Utah law allowing distilleries, biochemist David Perkins started making the spicy, complex High West whiskey. This month, High West moves into a renovated 1900 stable next to one of Park City's lifts, where it will be integrated with a restaurant and, come winter, be the world's only ski-in, ski-out distillery ($45; highwestdistillery.com).